Attend Our Annual Breakfast on October 4, Featuring Authors of New Blasket Island Book

by Mary Ellen Lowney

The Annual Breakfast, on Sunday, October 4 at 10:00 am at the Yankee Pedlar in Holyoke, is a great opportunity to meet and mingle, with good food, pleasant company, and a review of the year's activities at the Irish Cultural Center.

Tickets are $20 for members and $23 for non-members. They will not be sold at the door; please call the ICC for more information or to reserve your place at a table: 413-265-2537.

Authors Gerald Hayes and Eliza Kane will be featured speakers at the event. Hayes and Kane are authors of the recently released The Last Blasket King, Pádraig Ó Catháin, An Rí, which tells the story of the last King of the Great Blasket Island located off the coast of Dingle, County Kerry, Ireland.

The Great Blasket has special significance in the Springfield area because so many islanders relocated here during the island's decline in the first half of the twentieth century. Among those who settled in Springfield was Mike "The Fiddler" Kane, the King's first-born son.

Eliza Kane is great-great-granddaughter of Pádraig Ó Catháin, the last King of the Great Blasket Island. She is co-producer of The Crest, a documentary film about the King and his descendants.

Gerald Hayes is the son-in-law of Michael Carney, a Blasket-born Springfield resident who passed away in late August. In 2013, Hayes and Carney co-authored From the Great Blasket to America: The Last Memoir by an Islander, which tells of Carney's own life voyage from the Great Blasket to Dublin and finally, to Springfield, where he lived, raised a family, and nourished his Irish heritage.

Hayes and Kane will speak about their book, which has been published by The Collins Press of Cork, Ireland. Autographed copies will be on sale at the event.

From the book:

There is something magical about the notion of a King on a small isolated island. Few would look at the ruins on the Great Blasket and imagine a King had lived there. Yet the King was a very forceful presence on this island. The last was Pádraig Ó Catháin, known as 'Peats Mhicí,' who served for about twenty-five years until his death in 1929. To the islanders, he was arguably the most important citizen and was the central figure on the island during its literary flowering. He helped the islanders navigate through life and national and world events such as the 1916 Rising and The Great War. He collaborated with the other 'elders' in planning the transfer of ownership of the island from the Earl of Cork to the Congested Districts Board in 1907 and, in turn, to the islanders themselves. They also participated in the reorganization of the field system between 1907 and 1917.

This is the first account of the King's extraordinary life, written in collaboration with his descendants in the USA and Ireland. It tells of the very special, unique man, his many contributions to the island and his extended legacy.

We hope you can join us for this enlightening and entertaining event.

Dear Irish Cultural Center Member,

This is a time of great opportunity, progress and growth for the Irish Cultural Center. The ICC has been seeking new space that would allow us to expand our program offerings for our members and the community. We are excited to announce that we have signed a twenty-year lease with the City of West Springfield. In due time, we will be moving to the former Elks Lodge property at 429 Morgan Road. The chosen facility is the end result of an extensive search of dozens of alternative sites examined over the course of the last 12 months.

Another exciting change for us is an update to our organization's name.

To reflect the broadened scope of our mission and membership, we have changed our name from the Irish Cultural Center, Inc. to the Irish Cultural Center of Western New England. The new facility and name change are the culmination of two years of strategic planning, guided by an outside facilitator. The ICC's mission is always to cultivate a connection with Ireland through the arts, culture, history, language and heritage, throughout the Western New England region. Our membership and support already stretches well beyond the local area, into the whole of Western Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont, and even New York. Our name change is recognition of that broad reach.

The ICC has always been an independent 501(c)(3) non-profit charitable cultural organization. We are extremely grateful to Elms College for the supportive affiliation they have given to us since our founding in 1999. As the college continues to grow and expand academically, we feel the time is right to establish our own independent ICC location in which to operate and prosper. We are happy to continue to collaborate with the college, and are again offering Irish language classes this year, with our sixth consecutive Irish Fulbright Foreign Language Teaching Assistant.

The Morgan Road site provides an amazing opportunity for the ICC to expand into larger space, with 9.84 acres of land, and a building of approximately 8,500 square feet, adjacent to a dedicated parking lot. The facility will include a Performance and Lecture Hall with banquet capabilities, an Irish/Celtic Museum, a Library with genealogy research, three administrative offices, a traditional Irish Pub, athletic playing fields for Gaelic sports, rugby and little league soccer, and expansive grounds with space for gardens.

The ICC will be launching a capital campaign to raise funds for the refurbishment of the building. We will be moving forward, expanding our event offerings, community outreach and member benefits, thus fulfilling our promise of keeping the Irish arts alive. We value our members and thank you for your past support; we want you to be part of this future process with us. Please stay tuned for more information as we will continually update you throughout this exciting transition.

On behalf of the ICC Board of Directors

Regards,

Sean F. Cahillane, President

Leo & Anto Delight the Crowd at Sold-out Acoustic Show

by Kathleen Doe

Leo Moran and Anthony Thistlethwaite have been busy since The Saw Doctors have taken a break from touring. The two musicians and friends returned to the U.S. with their third acoustic tour this past spring, and performed a sold-out show on April 11, 2015 for the Irish Cultural Center. The Munich Haus Restaurant in Chicopee, MA, held an enthusiastic crowd of almost 230 people.

Leo and Anto delighted the audience with reworkings of many Saw Doctors songs, culminating in a sing-along to fan-favorite Clare Island. Songs like Exhilarating Sadness and Red Cortina became quieter and more reflective, letting the words and meaning shine through. Share the Darkness and Same Ol' Town are favorites of Leo's and Anto's, and they performed them beautifully and simply.

They also introduced their own original songs, with plenty of laughs and stories to go along with them. It was clear that originals from previous tours, such as Credit Union and Fill Her Up There Mister Oilman are already loved by audiences. Anto also sang the beloved Fisherman's Blues, from his days of performing with The Waterboys.

Leo & Anto have released three CDs from their acoustic duo, Pushin' It, Flyin' It and Shovin' It. Learn more about Leo & Anto at www.leoandanto.com; CDs are available at www.sawdoctors.com.

Thanks so much to our sponsors and volunteers who helped make this show possible! It was a night full of music and stories, warmth and laughs.

Leo and Anto delighted the sold-out room at The Munich Haus, and stopped by the City Line for a bit of craic after the show.

Summer Concert Series Brings New Music to Western Massachusetts

by Kathleen Doe and Mary Ellen Lowney

This summer, the Irish Cultural Center showcased traditional and popular Celtic music with our Summer Concert Series. We lined up three shows with highly acclaimed performers who represent some of the best of the Celtic music world. Some names were more familiar to people in this local area than others, and the series introduced audiences to world-class music that they may not have heard before.

Searson performed the first concert in the series, on July 11 at the Delaney House in Holyoke, MA. Their special album release show featured their original Ottawa Valley-style music mixed with Celtic, East Coast and Scottish, including high energy fiddling, passionate vocals and step dancing. Sisters Colleen and Erin Searson performed on a variety of instruments, including fiddle, piano and acoustic guitar. Rounding out the group were Danno O'Shea on drums and Fraser Gauthier on bass. The show also featured local Irish step dance students. Most of the 100-plus audience members had never heard of Searson before, but it didn't take long for them to make a lot of new fans.

The second concert on July 19 featured House of Hamill, a traditional Irish fiddle and eclectic folk group formed by Brian Buchanan of Jubilee Riots (formerly Enter the Haggis), and Rose Baldino of Burning Bridget Cleary. Brian and Rose played an intimate, relaxed show of traditional Irish sets and songs and original compositions for the audience of almost 100 people at the Collegian Court in Chicopee, MA.

Brian in particular has a large following in this area with his band Jubilee Riots, and it was a special treat to hear him perform a more traditional set, blending beautifully with Rose's melodic voice and fiddle-playing.

The third and final show in the series was a success, with the Irish Trad Ensemble bringing a few big names in traditional Irish music to the Collegian Court in Chicopee on Sunday, August 9. The three musicians included Matt Molloy of Chieftains fame on flute, John Carty of Patrick Street on fiddle, and Arty McGlynn, considered Ireland's finest guitar player, rounding out a very enjoyable set of tunes on their first ever tour of the United States.

The mid-day show was a sellout, with 130 people making up a very enthusiastic audience.

2015 Spring Ireland Tour: Dingle to Galway

by Rose Baker

The Irish Cultural Center's May 2015 Ireland Tour, led by Rose Baker, Pat Baker and Steve O'Brien, was an unforgettable journey to beautiful Dingle and Galway. With 70 passengers, we landed in Shannon Airport on May 6 and were greeted by our drivers/guides James Finn and Pat Griffin.

We travelled to Dingle where we spent five fantastic nights at the lovely Dingle Skellig Hotel. Some of the highlights from our stay in Dingle included a drive along the beautiful coast of Slea Head with visits to the Gallarus Oratory, Kilmalkedar Church and the Blasket Centre. At the Blasket Centre, we learned about what life was like for the people who lived on the Blasket Islands and the families who immigrated directly to the Springfield area. After the Slea Head drive, we made a visit to Ballydavid for a fun afternoon at Begley's Pub with musical entertainment provided by Noreen Finn (James Finn's wife). At Begley's Pub, we spoke to locals and others on the tour and enjoyed the camaraderie of sharing good memories of our days in Dingle over pints of the "black stuff."

On another day, we travelled to the Cobh Heritage Center in Co. Cork where we learned about emigration from Ireland during the Great Hunger, as well as the Titanic's voyage from Cobh, which was the ship's last stop before its tragic end. After our visit to Cobh, we stopped for lunch at the South County Pub in Douglas, Co. Cork, and enjoyed the craic of an afternoon session of traditional Irish music. We also visited the charming town of Killarney, where many of us engaged in a horse-drawn jaunting cart ride through the beautiful Killarney National Park, with lovely views of the Lakes of Killarney. Thanks to Steve O'Brien, our group was treated to a surprise Irish step dancing performance by David Geaney, a five-time World Champion Irish Step Dancer, at the Skellig Hotel.

After Dingle, we travelled to Galway. On our way to Galway, we made a visit to the Cliffs of Moher where we stood 700 feet above the ocean. We spent three lovely evenings in Salthill at the Galway Bay Hotel. We shopped at Standun's in Spiddal, and then Moycullen to visit Celtic Crystal and Connemara Marble. We enjoyed a free day in Galway City to shop or independently explore the "City of the Tribes." Some of us were even able to practice our Irish language skills in many of Galway's pubs over a pint!

After just a short time, our group felt like we were old friends. Every day was a full experience and we learned so much about Ireland and its history, culture and language from our guides – James and Pat. Leaving Ireland was bittersweet at the end of our 10-day trip. We were tired, but full of wonderful memories that will forever be in our hearts.

We (Rose, Pat and Steve) send a heart-felt thank you to those who travelled with us to experience the best of the Emerald Isle – Dingle and Galway, and for making the 2015 Spring Ireland Trip a success. We are already planning our 2016 journeys (May and October) to Ireland and hope to see you again.

Thanks to Ann Marie Fitzgerald for your great photos!

Celtic Adventures Immerses Kids in Irish Culture

by Mary Ellen O'Brien

Celtic Adventures For Kids, the summer program offered by the Irish Cultural Center, took place this year from July 27 – 31. Once again it turned out to be one of the warmest summer weeks, but that did not deter the campers, teachers or counselors from having a lot of fun.

The week started with a demonstration of Gaelic football, with Mike Carney and Eamonn Burke directing the clinic, and as always it was one of the kids' favorite activities. Wednesday afternoon has also become one of the days that we all look forward to. Every year we have an Irish music session led by our own Ellen Redman, who is the music teacher at camp. It is an opportunity for all the campers to sing and dance together and to see and hear our visiting musicians, Jerry Noble, Tim Donoghue, and Bill Dempsey, play instruments, sing songs, and answer any questions the kids might have. Tom Feeley joined us on Thursday morning for road bowling, and it was a pure delight to see him teaching not only the sport, but also a bit of Irish language to the kids.

All of this is done in conjunction with accomplished teachers holding class each day in language, literature, art, dance, music and sports, and leads to a Friday afternoon party where the campers display some of what they have learned for their parents, grandparents, and other family members and friends.

The success of this program is due to the efforts of many individuals, but would never have been possible without the support of Elms College. Heartfelt thanks to Elms president, Sr. Mary Reap, and the staff of both the Maguire and Dooley Centers for always welcoming and providing for us, especially campus nurse Jill Gagne who served as our medical advisor. The experience and professionalism of the teachers, the youthful energy of the counselors, and the invaluable assistance from Kathy O'Connor Duquette, provided for a week that gave fifty two youngsters a chance to learn about and celebrate the very best of Irish culture.

The campers enjoyed a week of learning about Irish culture.

The ICC Welcomes Síle Dolan, Irish Fulbright Language Teacher

The Irish Cultural Center and Elms College welcome our sixth consecutive Irish Fulbright Foreign Language Teaching Assistant, Síle Dolan, from County Offaly (as she likes to say, the heart of Ireland!). Síle has earned a Bachelor of Arts in Irish and French from the National University of Ireland, Galway. She has just completed her Masters from University College Dublin, in which she focused mostly on Irish-English and English-Irish translation. She is also a teacher at the Arena School of English in Dublin.

"I'm very happy to be here and I'm really looking forward to teaching at the Center. I'm excited to meet lots of new people," Síle says. She brings a great deal of talent and enthusiasm, and will help us showcase the language in our community. Síle teaches a Novice class for credit during the day. In addition, she teaches the evening Intermediate class. We look forward to our partnership with Síle this year.

Remembering Michael Carney

The Irish Cultural Center was saddened to hear of Michael Carney's passing. He was a friend to the ICC and especially our Irish language program, participating in our Lá na Gaeilge and always available to talk with our Irish language Fulbright teachers.

The following is an excerpt of an article written by Anne-Gerard Flynn of The Republican and published on MassLive.com on August 29, 2015.

A notable Irish speaker and a resident of East Longmeadow, Michael J. Carney, has died at the age of 94.

Carney was the embodiment of Irish wit and wisdom for many admirers of the culture, and was beloved on both sides of the Atlantic for his efforts to preserve it. His death was being highlighted in the Irish press, with RTE, the national TV and radio broadcaster in Ireland, showing video of Carney and referring on its website to Carney's meetings with current and past Irish presidents.

The oldest living native of the Great Blasket Island off Ireland's West Coast, Carney was born on the Great Blasket, known, as Carney liked to say, for its "pure form of Irish," on Sept. 22, 1920. He was instrumental in the establishment of The Blasket Centre there, a museum that now attracts 50,000 visitors a year.

"I am a native-born Irish speaker and I love the Irish language. Everybody on the island grew up speaking a pure form of Irish. We also learned a little bit of English in school and even more from the visitors that came to the island," Carney wrote in his memoir.

"Storytelling was very important on the island. It built a very close-knit community. It was the basis for all the fine literature that came from the island. All my life I have told stories about the island. It is my own way of spreading the word, perpetuating the memory of my beloved island. The island was a place that got into your soul."

In 2013, he, along with son-in-law Gerald W. Hayes, authored "From the Great Blasket To America: The Last Memoir by an Islander."
